Extensive Repairs Needed On Logtown's Brand New Gym

C. C. McDonald, Jr., was low bidder for the repairs on the newly completed Logtown Consolidated school gymnasium Tuesday morning.

Two bids were submitted. The bid by McDonald, contractor of Bay St. Louis, was also the only bid in accordance with plans and specifications. The amount of the low bid was $3,234. The other proposal, submitted by L.H. Raymond, Jr., also of Bay St. Louis, was based on a modification of plans and specifications and was $3,798.

Because of the presence of only one member of the Logtown School Board of Trustees, were held over pending a meeting of the entire board. The other two members of the board are Stanley Strahan and R.E. Chestnut.

After the opening of the bids E.E. Breland, Hancock County superintendent of education, said that it probably would be necessary to secure additional funds in order to accept the low bid, as the money allotted for this work had been based on an estimate of slightly less than $6,000 made by George S. Schenck, consulting engineer, of New Orleans, who had been retained by the Logtown School Board of Trustees to make a survey of repairs necessary to the Gymnasium and to prepare plans and specifications for same.

The gymnasium building, completed little more than a year ago, is in need of major repairs. The roof trusses are distorted and show signs of threatening failure. The left wall and left front corner are visibly bulged outward, a fracture at the left front corner separating the side wall from the front wall. This condition, it was reported, was caused by the floor expanding due to moisture, because of the lack of a waterproof membrane between the sub-floor and the finished floor.

Very little was accomplished when an effort was made to learn why a practically new building should be in such a derelict condition and require such extensive repairs.

The building was built during the term of office of the preceding Board of Trustees. No one contacted was able to say whether or not plans and specifications had been prepared for the construction of the new gymnasium, nor whether such plans, if any, had been approved by a competent authority.

Also receiving indefinite answers were questions relative to the cost of the structure and the contract under which the gymnasium was built, or of there was a building contract properly executed.

The only definite comment made by members of the present Board of Trustees, was, in effect, that they were doing their best to remedy a bad situation. That in order to do so they had secured the services of a competent engineer to make the necessary recommendations and had advertised in the proper manner for bids to make the repairs recommended.

Those bids offered Tuesday were the result of a second attempt to secure bids for this work. The first advertisement for bids received no response.

WAVELAND POST OFFICE BECOMES SECOND CLASS BECAUSE OF GROWTH

The Waveland Post Office became a second class office last week.

The advancement of the post office from a third class office was made this week by Mrs. Thelma Landry, postmaster, in Waveland since 1938.

Originally the post office was a fourth class office but with the rapid growth in population in the Waveland territory, the office has grown larger and larger.

When Mrs. Landry was commissioned as post master the June quarter records read like this: Stamp sales $18.22; Money Orders sold $3,109.85 and Box rents $25.00. For the June quarter of this year the record read stamp sales $2,204.15; Money Orders sold $15,

TV On Way

To Hospital

The bid on a 21 inch Admiral television and wrought iron table with cast iron rollers has been accepted by the Executive Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The committee accepted George di Benedetto's Application price of $235.65, completely installed, including antenna, to be used in the reception room for better rehabilitation of all patients who view the new project program.

Kings Daughters Hospital already has a radio in each room but no funds are allowed for TV purchase. All hospitals have provided television and have become almost a part of their standard equipment.

Mrs. Russell Elliott, president of the American Legion Auxiliary contacted 26 local organizations and asked that they mail their checks of $9.00 direct to di Benedetto Television and Appliances as soon as possible so that the set can be immediately installed in the hospital.

Very little was accomplished when an effort was made to learn why a practically new building should be in such a derelict condition and require such extensive repairs.

The building was built during the term of office of the preceding Board of Trustees. No one contacted was able to say whether or not plans and specifications had been prepared for the construction of the new gymnasium, nor whether such plans, if any, had been approved by a competent authority.

New Attempt To Move Beat Four

Voters Into Beat Five

New Attempt To Move Beat Four Voters Into Beat Five

Follwing one unsuccessful attempt last week, a new try will be made tomorrow to kick about 50 voters out of Beat 4, two months ago an injunction was issued forbidding the Hancock County election Commission to kick the voters out of their beat until a lawsuit over the matter was settled.

The suit has not yet come up in court.

But last week, Alvin Genin, one member of the election commission, petitioned Chancery Judge Dan M. Russell, Sr., asking that he put aside the injunction.

Judge Russell refused on the grounds that Genin did not have the proper authority to act. The commission—which also consists of Dan M. Russell, Jr., and Robert L. Genin, had not held a meeting to discuss the matter.

The next move was north to Hattiesburg. This time Genin's petition was joined by one from three members of the Board of Supervisors—Johnson Shaw, Jack Lott and Frank Kellar asking Judge Luther Smith to hear their case.

They said that they were going to Judge Smith because Judge Russell will disqualify himself for the trial because his son is one of the selected election commissioners. Judge Russell has said he will do this—but he has not yet done so.

All of this will come before Judge Smith tomorrow at Hattiesburg.

It is highly unlikely that these people in Beat Four can be kicked out of their beat in time for the August 2 primary. Even if Judge Smith does dismiss the injunction, there is the possibility that appeals and other further legal action would keep the issue up in the air for some time to come.

The parade will leave St. Claire's Church at 9 o'clock and proceed through Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

Plans Completed

Final Plans for Our Lady of the Gulf Church Fair July 17 and 18 were made at a meeting of the Parish Fair Association Wednesday night.

The Hancock County Civil Defense rescue unit was on hand to handle any accidents. Only a couple of minor injuries were noted.

Joseph Benvenuti, chairman of the Legion Fourth of July celebration committee, said, "We feel that the celebration was a great success. We want to extend our thanks to each member of the Legion and Auxiliary who helped in any way. We are also very grateful to the town people and visitors who participated in the celebration such a success by their attendance."

Well the weather is getting hotter and so is the election. It is the time of the year when we are all searching for something that will take our minds off the heat. Let me make a suggestion.

Grab a chair and sit and relax and begin to contemplate a little on the qualifications of the candidates seeking the various offices in the August Democratic Primary. Study their platforms, their promises and their background.

After you have done this then compare and choose the best. The only promise that Bea Georgi stands on in her race for Justice of the Peace of Beat 5 is to live up to the TITLE of the office in the strictest sense of the word.

I will administer JUSTICE as our forefathers desired it to be administered when they compiled the CONSTITUTION of the UNITED STATES.

My court will be directed under Democratic Principles.

Every person brought before me shall have the right to plead his case and I will carefully weigh both sides before I hand down any DECISION.

I will not conduct a Kangaroo Court where anyone coming before me is guilty regardless of what defense he presents. This is not the American way of doing things and it will not be my way. I will always keep an open mind and never let personal or political feelings interfere with any of my JUDGEMENTS.

I will try to correct wrongs and not encourage them to continue on that path, which would only lead to a life of misery for everyone concerned.

If a youngster is brought before me as a woman I will be most capable of understanding and knowing his or her feelings and I shall always be able to find a solution to their problems.

I want to help make Hancock County a place to be proud of not a place to be looked down upon.

Unjust arrest and heavy fines will hurt the good will of our county and in time will destroy our potential business and enlargement possibilities.

Don't let this happen. Elect Bea Georgi one of the Justices of the Peace of the Peace. I promise you that the attitude of the visitors here will be a happy one and they will feel that they are welcomed.

The TEEN TATTER

By DONALD BYRD

Your "Teen Tatter" reporter just returned from a vacation spent at his grandfather's house. It is a miracle considering the amount I crammed in a three day vacation. The cramping was, of course, food. The 11 grandchildren there went through piles of fried chicken, baked ham, pecan pies, cakes, cookies, and every fresh vegetable that grows. The tomatoes on my grandfather's farm weighed over a pound each. Canteloupes as big as watermelons. Watermelons I ate and ate.

Anywhere else all that food would have robbed me of swimming, but the life guard at the pool at Citronelle, Ala., is a member of the U.S. Olympic team. Quite a capable guy to have around a pool probably the most outstanding Life Guard in America. He is a deaf mute. He depends entirely upon eyesight and a whistle to pool. He has complete respect and admiration from all who attend the pool. For he overcame such a handicap to become a great athlete and a most unique job. He cannot hear "Help I'm drowning!" He just sees that you don't ever have to yell for help.

It was great to get back to the Gulf Coast to see everybody celebrating because back in the hills of Mississippi and Alabama there were very few crowds and fireworks. From Gulfport to Bay St. Louis there was a bonfire every fifty feet. Bay St. Louis looked like a giant Christmas tree and the fireworks display could be seen from Pass Christian.

County Agent Notes

BOLLWORMS IN COTTON

Bollworms are now causing damage in cotton fields, especially in the southern part of the state, and unless you take precautions, they can cut into your crop too.

Bollworm moths lay eggs in the terminal bud of the cotton plant. These eggs hatch within 3 to 5 days and the small worms which feed at the terminal bud for a day or so, then attack close-by squares.

The most effective control of the worms is obtained when they are small and still in the terminal bud.

Check your cotton closely and regularly to guard against this pest. Remember to treat each field as an individual problem.

When applying insecticides, treat each row as a separate problem. Remember that one lock of cotton saved per foot of row will, on an acre, pay for one application of insecticide.

When using ground equipment to apply insecticides, make sure that nozzles and spouts on dusters and sprayers are not over the cotton. All airplane applications should be flagged.

For more information on controlling bollworms and other harmful cotton insects check with your county agent for a free copy of 1955 Cotton Insect Control Recommendations, Extension Publication 292. It contains information on when to poison, how to poison, and poisons to use.

DAIRY FEEDING

Dairy cows can use some of that grass silage anytime during the summer when pastures begin to play out from dry weather or overgrazing.

Normally the amounts of silage that will be consumed by dairy cows during the summer and being the same property described in the aforementioned deed of trust.

The title is believed to be good, but I will convey only such title as is vested in me as said Trustee.

WHY THE RUMORS?

What are they afraid of?

Does the truth hurt?...

they are helping me in this campaign because they believe in the virtues I propose HONESTY for the Sheriff, EFFICIENCY AND THRIFT for the tax collector in this combined job of Sheriff and Tax Collector.

But no one is authorized to say what I think. If you want to know and it is not an issue I have always publicized freely in the newspapers and in my speeches then ASK ME.

Two kind of people start rumors about candidates for public office.

One kind is the cornered rat. He is so desperately afraid of the honest candidate winning that he will not stop at nothing. He starts with phoney promises to the voters. Soon he finds out they do not believe him, so he turns to something more concrete bribery. The bribery might be cash money, or it might be a two-bit job, or it might be just a promise of something. When bribery gets too costly or impractical, he turns to false rumors.

The other kind of rumor spreader is the tool. He is a moral weakling who will do the big shot's bidding just to be close to him. The tool pretends he is a big shot, too. But he does not fool anyone not even himself. The dirty work he has to perform to stay in favor is too dirty.

Neither type of character is honorable. Neither type is to be respected or believed. When you hear a rumor, demand the truth, and if you hear the truth, surely you will Sometimes these characters just want to take credit for what Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., and his associates have done to clean up the City of Bay St. Louis. That is foolish. It is pretty well known who helped clean up the rackets in Bay St. Louis and it is just as well known who DID NOT help, too.

What should you, as a voter, do about these rumors?

The first thing is to pin them down. When someone comes to you with a wild fairy tale, turn on him and ask: "Who told you? Who told him? How do they know it is true?"

The one thing a rumor-monger cannot stand is the truth.

When you want to know what Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., thinks about any issue, there is only one man to ask. That man is Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., himself. I have many friends, and Hard work comes before the harvest...

Today, more than 20 million American families enjoy the benefits of dependable natural gas service. But Nature's blessings are seldom acquired without effort.

Years of research and many costly failures preceded the deep-drilling techniques, the large diameter steel pipe and the heavy compressors necessary to meet the widespread demand for this wonder fuel.

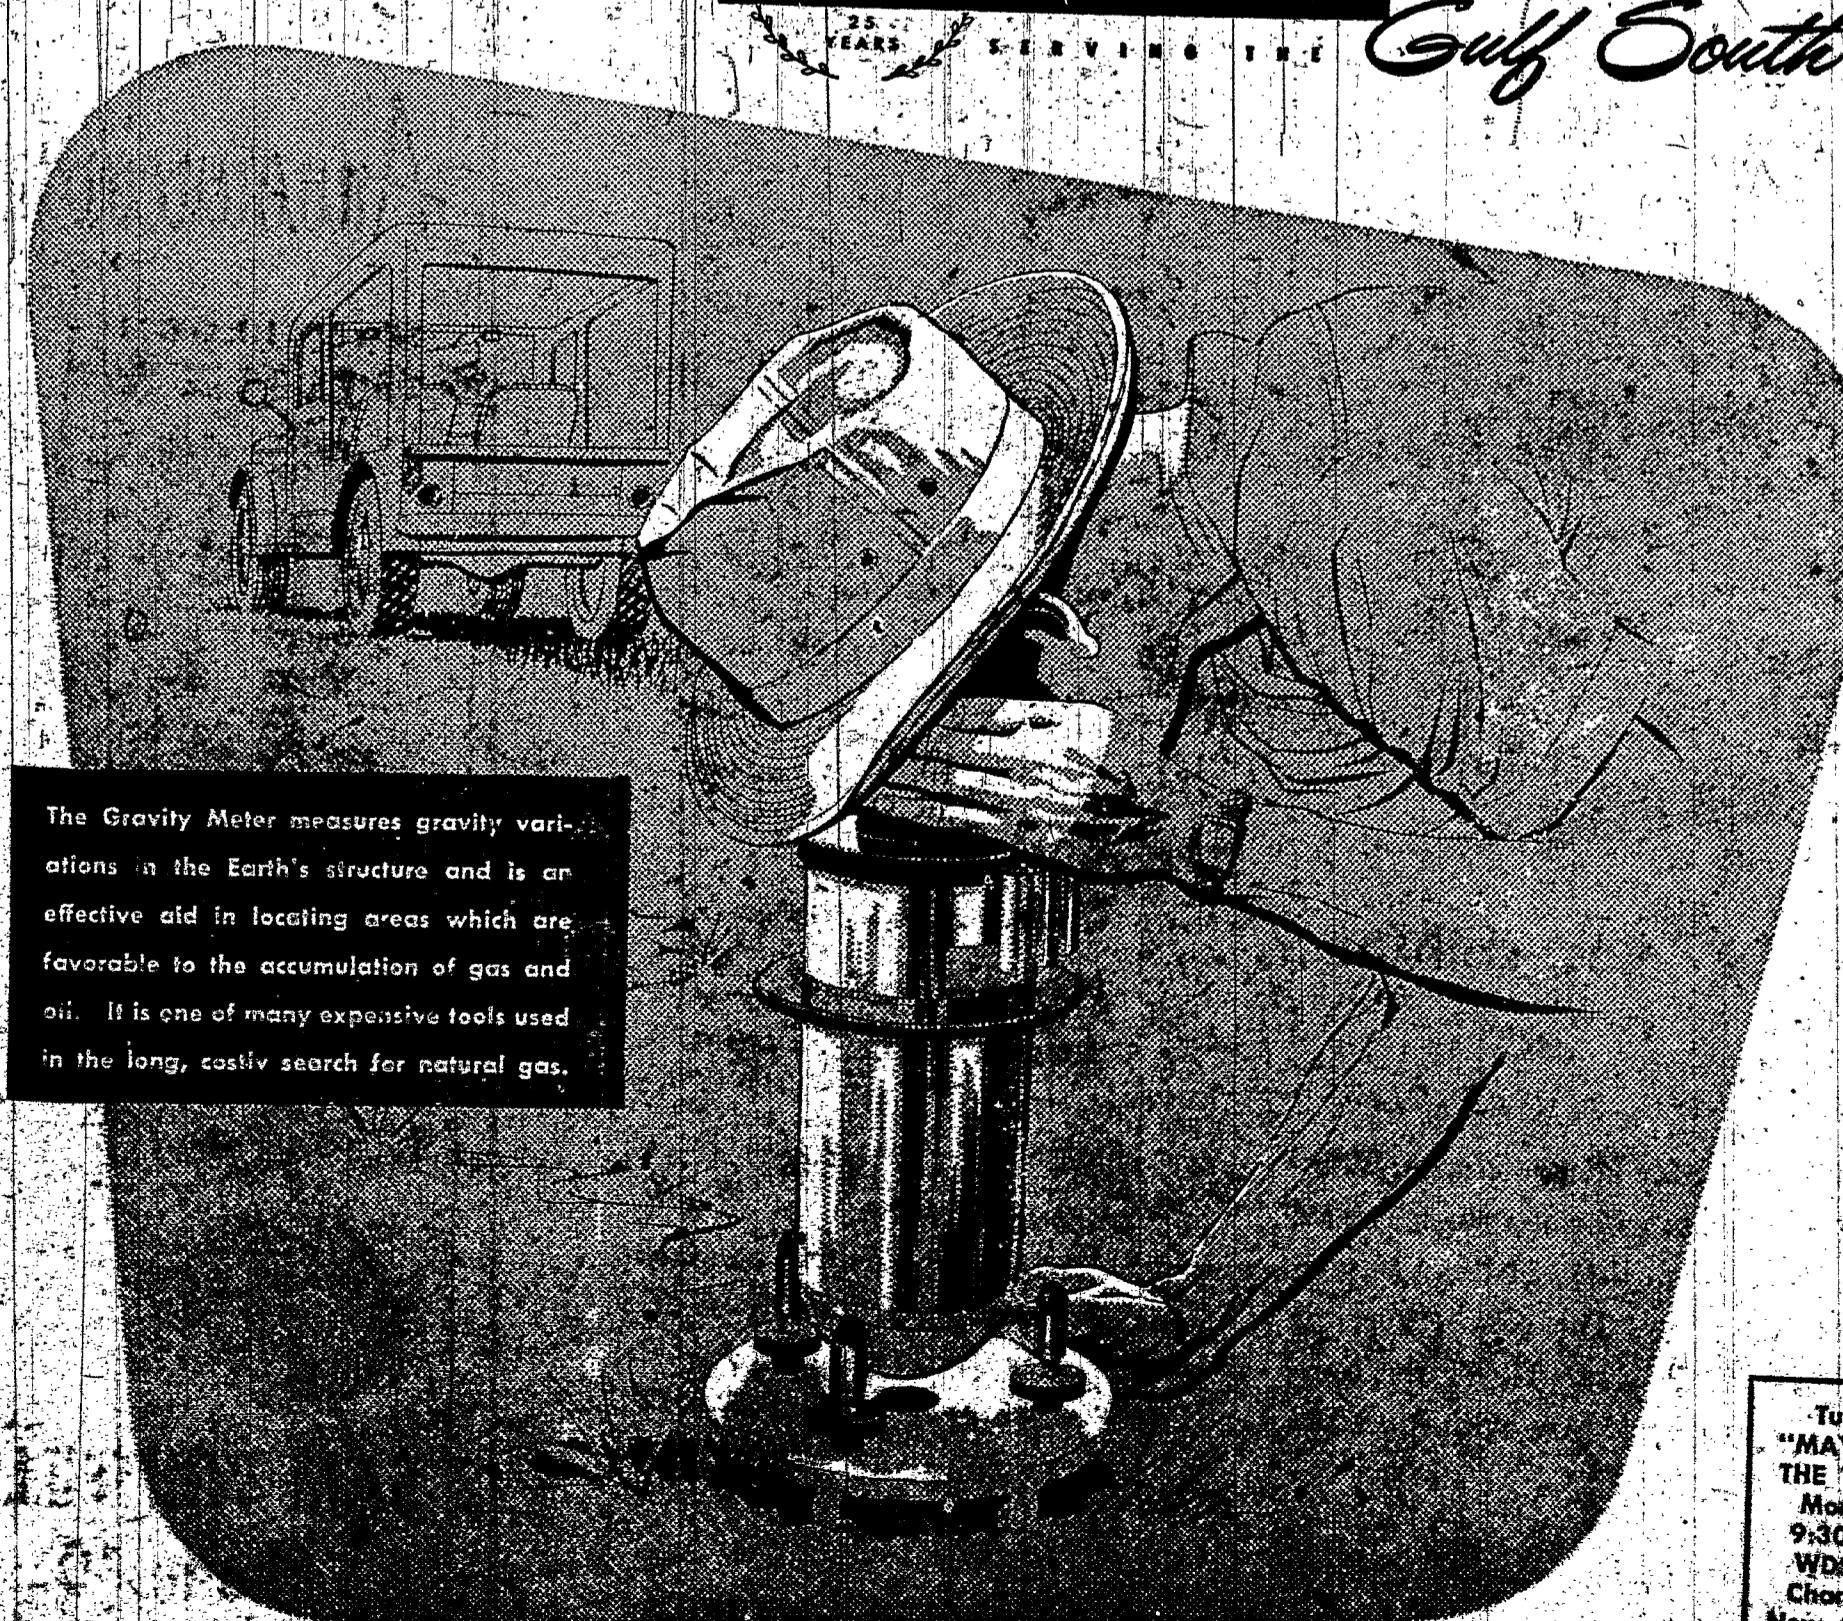

Producers have found more natural gas each year than was used, but theirs is a risky business. They drill an average of nine exploratory holes to find one producing well. In the best interest of everyone, the producer should be encouraged wherever possible, for...

...this is a search that must never end

Commuter Rate - At Last!

There's a commuter rate on the Bay St. Louis toll bridge, and that is indeed good news.

It came about a year after it was promised. But this is hardly the time to cry over spilled milk.

A toll on a bridge or a road is an evil. Sometimes, to be sure, it is a necessary evil, because the road or bridge should not otherwise be built. But at all times every effort should be made to eliminate the toll as quickly as possible so that the taxpayers can ride for free.

Before complete elimination, consideration must be given to the strictly local population—especially those who use the road or bridge in question to get to and from work.

There may be new toll bridges and new toll roads detected in Mississippi in the coming years. That's fine if necessary. But the people should be ever alert to let the toll remain only as long as absolutely necessary. Then it should go.

A Wonderful Fourth

The Clement Bon temps Post of the American Legion merits many cheers and thanks for its wonderful job of the Fourth of July celebration. The post provided residents and visitors alike with a fine program, and indeed made this a safe and sane Fourth.

Care of Water

This is the time of year when Bay St. Louis has a water problem. Even with that big bay sitting there, we endanger our use of fresh water by being wasteful.

Watch those hoses. Watch those sprinklers. And obey the law. Water is precious.

In its annual report issued this week, the Bay Red Cross Chapter stated that during the past year, 419 volunteers participated in various service groups of the chapter.

Also cooperating with the Chapter in the work of the South Mississippi Volunteer Service Council, ARC, were numerous church, civic, social, fraternal and youth organizations rendering service and other comfort articles to the patients of the Gulfport VA, Biloxi VA and Keesler Air Force Base hospitals.

In the Gulfport VA, Grey Ladies assisted in the Recreation, Occupational Therapy and Clinical Psychology Departments. Twelve party outings given here by different organizations and sponsored by the chapter were attended by a Red Cross chapter repre-

Biloxi VA hospital—Various organizations, business establishments and individuals furnished comfort articles and Christmas refreshments and decorations.

Special recognition is accorded the following groups within the chapter for their assistance and cooperation with Volunteer Service activities:

Grey Ladies—(Separate Report), who have also been cited for special recognition by the Gulfport VA hospital staff.

Junior Red Cross—for invaluable assistance and cooperation in council activities.

Motor Corps—which has rendered a valuable service from time to time in transporting volunteers to different activities at the hospitals.

Particular recognition and thanks were extended to the local American Legion Auxiliary and the local Girl Scout Troops, both of whom have their own independently organized community service projects, for their cooperation and assistance in various Red Cross sponsored projects for the hospitals.

Thanks and deep appreciation were extended to the three local newspapers, the Sea Coast Echo, Hancock County Eagle and the Light, for their fine coverage of volunteer service activities.

Very special thanks were extended to Mrs. Elizabeth Weston, Executive Secretary of the chapter, for her keen interest and help over and above her regular duties, without which the volunteer activities of the Red Cross would be impossible.

Other volunteer activity in the chapter included: Christmas-in-the-High Seas project, exceeding the assigned quota; uniformed Grey Ladies participating in the Armistice Day Parade; five talks by a Red Cross representative before local organizations explaining the work and needs of volunteer services.

Meetings outside the chapter attended by chapter volunteers during the past year include:

What We Owe Each Other

Ours has become a kind of careless economy. As we hear some people say that it does not make any difference how much the government owes or "what we just owe it" to each other.

In 1929 federal government expenditures amounted to $6 billion. In 1954 our public debt alone amounted to $6.5 billion. And between these two dates the federal debt increased from $17 billion to $279 billion. In 1929 the debt amounted to only 19 per cent of the national income; in 1954 it was 91 per cent of the amount.

The national debt becomes of a size sufficient to justify our asking "whose debt is it? Who owes it? Who owns it?" The school of commerce and business administration at the University of Mississippi has just published some interesting figures in answer to these questions that should give us pause, for they touch our purse.

On a geographic basis, Mississippi's share of the national debt is $1,100,000,000 (one billion one hundred million dollars). And the amount we owe on this per capita is $464. The interest on Mississippi's share of this debt is 24 million dollars annually.

And your annual share of this interest is $11 per capita.

Though it is true that the national debt is an internal debt as distinguished from a foreign debt, and is not equally "owned" or equally "owed" by all the people at the same time we do owe our government an awful lot of money.

And what we each owe the government and what the government owes everybody who owns a government bond is not like the ordinary debt we may owe each other.

There is nothing mysterious about what we owe the government. All we have to do is add up the withholding tax on our wages or take a good look at our income tax returns to realize how debt-ridden we are.

We have gone billions of dollars in debt believing we were riding free. There's no such thing as getting something for nothing from the government. The most expensive thing we get from the government are the things we think we are getting free.
